

What is the Help Centre?

The Help Centre is our new and improved system for helping our customers. It replaces our former Self Service and FAQs, combining both elements for a more polished customer experience.

What can I do there?

- Search FAQs and explore articles relevant to you
- Contact our dedicated Customer Care team
- Manage your support tickets

Where can I find it?

You can access our Help Centre through the Residents Hub.

Visit dataenergy.co.uk/residents

Expand your knowledge

We believe that residents should feel confident in their understanding of their utilities. The wealth of knowledge found in the Help Centre aims to empower our customers; offering helpful information in straightforward language.

Start typing your question

Have a question? Just start typing into the search bar and relevant articles will appear for you to see. Our search function is fast and efficient, ensuring you get your answers immediately.

Articles relevant to you

You'll find plenty of FAQs here with our articles being better personalised to you. Want to learn more about your system? Visit our Heat Networks category. Only want articles relevant to Pay-as-you-go? Visit our PAYG category for more.

There are many categories to choose from and we are continuously updating and adding articles, so you'll always have the latest information to hand.

We're here to help...

Get in touch with us

Our Customer Care team is here too, and our ticketing system has had a facelift! By submitting a support ticket, you can send us customised information and attach photos and documents, allowing us to address your query more effectively.

You can also create an account to view and manage all your historic tickets in one place.

Your development will have a dedicated Customer Care adviser associated with it, for a more personalised service.

On the go

Alongside being fully optimised for mobile use, customers will also be able to reply to advisers directly through email threads, without having to log into the main site. This means customers can keep in touch on the go.

We're continuously developing our services; look out soon for the launch of our Live Chat feature, which will bring even more convenience and flexibility to our customers.

🔌 A phone call away...

Our Customer Care advisers are always happy to take the time talking to residents. We're on hand to help with any billing queries you might have.

Inbox You can access the Help Centre Zdataenergy now through our Residents Hub: Your support ticket has been updated Dear Emily, dataenergy.co.uk/residents Your support ticket #$068 has been updated. or Customer Care adviser has replied to your ticket. Their reply is provided below: Hello Emily, Thanks for sending that information over. Mould you like to schedule a call to talk through the next steps? If so, just let me know a preferable day If you would like to reply to your adviser, simply reply If you would like to reply to your adviser, simply reply to this email, you can also log into your Help Centre account to view and manage your support ticket. To log in John State of the John more If you feel your query has been solved, please let us If you feel your query has been solved, please let us know by reply "solved" to this email. Please note your ticket will auto-solve after three days of inactivity. Customer Care Data Energy

We're here to help. If you experience any issues or require support, please find some helpful advice at our Residents Hub. Here, you can access our dedicated Customer Care team through the Help Centre, who are on hand to take billing queries and explain tariffs. Please contact us via:

W dataenergy.co.uk/residents

T 01279 810 119

dataenergy.co.uk